

Nixon Peabody's Next-Generation Extranets

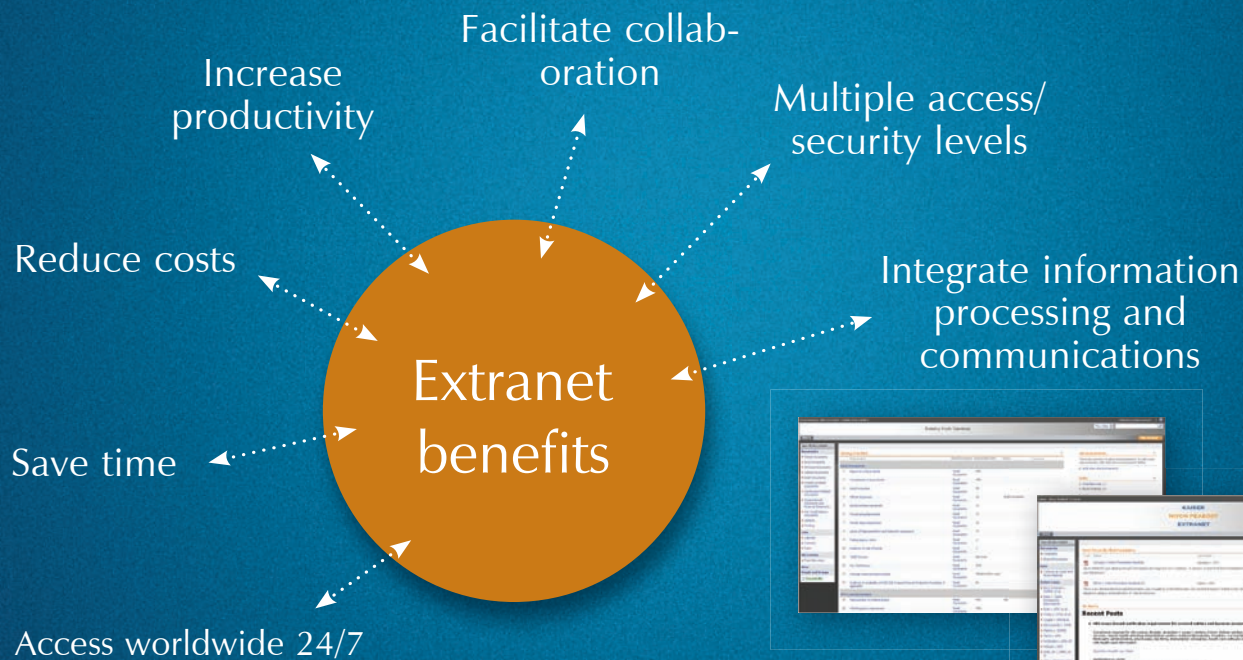

Taking client-lawyer communications to the next level

Nixon Peabody's next-generation extranets offer clients 24/7 access to case status, documents, and information, with security and ease.

The ability to share information instantly and seamlessly is critical in today's business environment. While technological advances have made the transfer of information faster and easier in many respects, the exchange of information between client and lawyer and the ability to navigate through large amounts of data remain risky, cumbersome, and costly—without the right tools.

Nixon Peabody's next-generation extranets offer clients 24/7 access to case status, documents, and information, with security and ease. A recent study found that the average corporate e-mail user spends 49 minutes per day managing e-mail. Our extranets help eliminate this drag on productivity. We provide the robust search functionality needed to find information buried in the thousands, even hundreds of thousands of files generated in the course of business.

Our extranets enhance client-lawyer communication. Clients can access information from anywhere in the world within their "virtual" case room. By tailoring extranets to meet specific client needs—including controlling the access of certain users within the extranet—clients get functionality, flexibility, and security, all in one convenient, but strongly protected, location.

Competitive advantage

Many firms and organizations lack the technical resources and know-how to effectively manage client extranets. Nixon Peabody's advanced capabilities and experienced team give clients a competitive edge while helping to control legal expenses. Our state-of-the-art web-based system manages information and communication related to any case, matter, or intellectual property, and its intuitive features require little training.
